Our Purpose

The Army ROTC Living Learning Community (AROTC) consists of a diverse group of first year and scholarship students who are engaged in the Army ROTC program and a variety of co-curricular activities. The AROTC will connect Army ROTC students with each other, helping to facilitate leadership and academic development. Army ROTC students are involved in a wide-array of University activities ranging from intramurals to providing Color Guards at events such as home football games. They are also highly active in the community, providing a variety of volunteer support for various organizations throughout the NWA area. Students in the AROTC program have access to many different opportunities to enhance their abilities and prepare them for their future careers.
