UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS
Student Affairs
University Housing
Welcome to #UARKHOME

We’re excited you’re moving to the University of Arkansas this fall.

Living on campus is an exciting adventure. We hope you embrace this chance to explore your new home in Fayetteville. There’s so much to get involved with as you prepare to move this August.

Visit movein.uark.edu for the latest information. Use the hashtag #uark23 to find your classmates online.
On behalf of all University Housing staff, welcome to the University of Arkansas. Central to the residential life experience is the community in which you live. Many students have never lived away from home or shared a room before coming here. It is normal to be anxious about what the experience will be like. I encourage you to take advantage of the leadership and involvement opportunities and academic resources available here on campus.”

— Florence Johnson,
Assistant Vice Chancellor for University Housing

University Housing employs more than 200 student employees as resident assistants, ResNet techs, conference ambassadors and in other jobs.

More than 6,200 students live on campus.

On-campus students enjoy a higher GPA, on average, than off-campus students.

University Housing manages 19 residence halls, 8 Greek houses and 1 apartment complex.

Residential students include freshmen and upperclassmen.

The cost of a residence hall and a meal plan is a major consideration as you move to campus.

University Housing works closely with campus dining to ensure you get a great value for room and board. Our simplified billing allows you to focus on what’s important during your academic career – making great grades and forming lasting relationships with those you meet.

Fulbright Dining Center in the Northwest Quad draws students from the north end of campus. Also enjoy Brough Dining in the center of campus and Pomfret Dining Hall on the south end.

Dining dollars provide flexibility beyond the traditional dining hall. Use your dining dollars across campus to try local cuisine.

Duncan Avenue Apartments are designated for upperclassmen housing. Four students occupy each apartment. Applicants may not be first-year freshmen.
University Housing offers a series of tours during Orientation sessions to help you see your new living space.

These tours offer an example of what your living space will look like.

See your orientation schedule for tour times.
Live Tours

We also offer a series of live interactive video tours through Facebook Live. You can follow along and ask us questions as we tour the halls and broadcast this information at 4 p.m. each day through our Facebook page at facebook.com/uarkhousing.

Housing Staff in the Halls

Coordinators for residence education (CREs) are full-time professional staff members. They live in a university-owned apartment within each community. CREs oversee the daily operations and the RA staff of the building.

Resident assistants (RAs) are upperclassmen student leaders who live in the halls to positively impact their floors and wings through educational and social activities, advising, and everyday interactions. They are selected through an application process and series of interviews, typically beginning at the end of the fall semester.

Counselors-in-residence (CIRs) are doctoral students in the counselor education program with advanced training in counseling, helping skills and crisis situations. A CIR is available by appointment during the week or during posted office hours.

Institutional service assistants (ISAs) provide housekeeping services in the common areas of the residence halls and community bathrooms.

Front desk administrative specialists take care of packages that arrive for students, provide information to residents and guests and offer other services at the front desk of many resident halls.

Maintenance generalists offer rapid response to maintenance issues and FIX IT requests. They provide preventative maintenance to facility systems and community bathrooms.

University Housing, Residents’ Interhall Congress (RIC) and the National Residence Hall Honorary (NRHH) work with the following vendors to provide shopping options for you that benefit your student organizations on campus.

Collegiate Concepts: Rent microfridges, buy electronic safes and campus mats. Proceeds benefit RIC. Visit collegiateconcepts.net/39/

SWAKU: Send care packages to your student throughout the year. Proceeds benefit NRHH. Order your package at swaku.com/uark.

Getting ready to move on campus and need some decorating ideas?
No need to go off campus to shop – the University Bookstore can help.
Don’t forget to check out the Walmart on Campus in the Garland Center for all your pharmacy and grocery needs.
Items on this list are specifically prohibited by law or university policy. Please note that students found with these or other prohibited items in their room or apartment will at least be asked to remove the item and may be subject to disciplinary action.

Items prohibited by law or policy may be subject to immediate confiscation by university officials.

Building Fobs

All University Housing buildings are locked. Students who live in that building and Housing staff who work in the buildings can access with issued fobs or keys. It is vital that students do not allow “tailgaters” – or persons without fob or key access – to enter the building.

Closed-circuit cameras

University Housing uses closed-circuit cameras to keep entrances and exits and common areas in the residence halls safe through passive monitoring.

You can visit safety.uark.edu to find out more information about campus safety.

Sustainability

housing.uark.edu/sustainability

University Housing places an emphasis on sustainability in the residence halls. We offer recycling stations and water bottle refill stations in the halls to allow for more responsible use of campus resources.

FIX IT

housing.uark.edu/fixit

Need a light bulb changed, your dresser drawer fixed, or a leak fixed? FIX IT is an online form to let us know you need us to fix something for you. There is no charge to you for this service unless it’s clear that the damage was intentional. Submitting a FIX IT request authorizes Housing staff to enter your room to perform the request if you are there or not. Residents may also call University Housing’s 24-hour service center at 479-575-7005 to identify a concern or submit a request for support.
Cable Television

housing.uark.edu/cable

Each room in our residence halls is equipped with digital cable through Cox Communications. This includes access to premium channels like HBO. DVR services are available upon request for an extra cost.

Laundry Alert

housing.uark.edu/laundry-alert

Laundry fees are included in your residence hall costs. University Housing also offers Laundry Alert in the residence halls. This service allows you to receive text notifications when washers and dryers are available and notification when your laundry is done.

ResNet

housing.uark.edu/resnet

Students living in University Housing residence halls and apartments use ResNet to get online from their rooms. ResNet stands for “Residential Network.” It is a collaborative partnership between University Housing and Information Technology Services (IT Services) to provide local network and Internet services to residents living on campus.

University Housing provides the front-line support and is the liaison between the student and IT Services to solve technical problems with network connectivity.

Housekeeping

University Housing employs a large staff of institutional service assistants (ISAs) who keep the common areas and community bathrooms of the residence halls clean and tidy.
Get Involved

@Home

University Housing staff run a series of programs that promote academic success, personal development and multicultural competence. The @ Home series includes eight events throughout the 2018-19 academic year. These events are designed to be fun for students and build on the skills needed for success in life.

Living Learning Communities (LLCs)

University Housing offers several residential communities to students organized around academic majors and educational interests. Each Living Learning Community, or LLC, allows on-campus students to live alongside others who share their interests and participate in monthly activities that promote academic and personal success. housing.uark.edu/llc

A-Week

A-Week begins right after students move to campus. Each day of A-Week focuses on a specific theme related to student success including Tradition, Involvement, and Wellness. A-Week also aims to connect incoming students with both new and upperclassmen Razorbacks.

University Housing hosted an event in August called “Taste of Fayetteville.” More than 1,200 freshman attended the mixer near Founders Hall. Live music and local restaurants came in to make the event special and delicious.

The schedule of events will be available at aweek.uark.edu.
LeadHogs

Lead Hogs is a program for students interested in learning about leadership and involvement opportunities on campus. Students get plugged in immediately to explore their interests in student organizations and with campus partners. There is no cost associated with serving as a Lead Hog. The application is simple and easy to complete. It is available at movein.uark.edu.

Residents’ Interhall Congress

The Residents’ Interhall Congress (RIC) is the coordinating organization for the various residence hall governing bodies across campus. RIC’s goal is to help develop residence hall policies, procedures, programs, and facilities to best serve the interests of students living on campus.

No Woman Left Behind

No Woman Left Behind (NWLB) is a bystander intervention program created by women for women and the men who care about them. It was established to educate communities about sexual assault and reinforce positive, supportive images of woman.

NRHH

National Residence Hall Honorary, or NRHH focuses on service and recognition through a variety of service projects and the “Of the Month” (OTM) award program. On-campus students may be initiated after their first semester but anyone can participate in service projects or nominate OTMs.
The relationship you have with your roommate will be a great learning experience because you will be sharing the space in which you sleep, study, hangout and relax. Having a great experience as roommates requires communication openness, honesty, respect and flexibility. Communicating upfront about each other’s needs, schedules and concerns is very important to creating a positive living environment.

Conflict Mediation with Roommates

An integral part of community living is learning to resolve concerns and issues in an appropriate and effective manner.

Dealing with conflict as a student can be challenging, especially when the conflict is with someone you interact with each day.

When trying to address a concern, or resolve a conflict, here are some things to keep in mind:

• When a conflict arises, talk with the other party regarding your concerns. Chances are they may not even know their behaviors are affecting you.

• Try not to procrastinate from resolving the problem. Avoiding conflicts usually means they will escalate and become more difficult to address later.

• Find a time and place when and where you will both be able to comfortably and openly discuss your concerns.
Stuck? Need Help Getting Through A Problem Or Conflict With A Roommate Or Neighbor?

If you are uncomfortable speaking with your roommate regarding a conflict, contact someone neutral who can assist you in your approach or help you think through your options.

Some resources to assist you include: resident assistants (RAs), coordinators for residence education (CREs), counselors-in-residence and counseling interns.

Your RA will assist you and your roommate in completing the online roommate agreement form. This meeting will be scheduled shortly after move-in. Through this process, you and your roommate should talk through the information and establish rules or standards for living together.

Topics covered include noise, cleaning, temperature, guests and sharing of items.

This agreement is online and a copy may be requested through your resident assistant.

8 Roommate Rules

1. Let each other study and sleep free from unreasonable noise and other distractions

2. Expect that your personal belongings will be respected and used only with permission

3. Keep your living space clean at a standard that meets both of your expectations

4. Give one another free access to the room, personal space and facilities.

5. Respect your roommate’s need for a reasonable amount of privacy from you and your guests

6. Talk about challenges before they get worse and lead to deeper conflict

7. Make your room a safe and secure space from peer pressure or ridicule

8. Respect the individual differences you and your roommate share so you can learn from one another
